FOR THE NEW CHURCH.

Exercises at Site of New West Side Congregational Church Are Interesting.

THE CORNER STONE WAS LAID.

Brief Address by Dr. Wilkinson of Sterling—Many Pastors Present—Rain Followed Service.

About two hundred people gathered at the corner of Van Buren avenue and Fourth street during the noon hour today to witness the ceremony connected with the laying of the corner stone for the new West Side Congregational church. The temperature was very mild for a November day and although showery the rain did not fall until the services were nearly completed.

The pastor, Rev. Brooks, had charge of the service, which opened with a song led by the choir directed by E. S. Dunn in which all joined. Rev. W. C. Spencer, president of the Dixon Ministerial Association, read a scripture lesson and Rev. Simpson of Shaw led in prayer.

Nearly all of the Dixon pastors, and quite a number who were here attending the meeting of the Rock River Valley Pastors Association, were present. Dr. Wilkinson of Sterling, who is president of the latter organization, was called upon to speak and he delivered a brief address full of good cheer and encouragement for the new society. The building he said, was situated most advantageously to supply a need in that part of the city and he trusted the building would not only be a place of convenience and delight but a place where the word of God might be sounded for the salvation of souls. He also spoke of the promise of a larger edifice to occupy the site during the lives of some of those present.

At the completion of his address Rev. Brooks called the trustees of the church, Messrs. W. H. Gray, W. H. Bennett and T. F. Brooks, who proceeded with the laying of the corner stone with the assistance of the mason contractor, Fred Whipperman. In the receptacle of the stone the pastor placed a copy of the manual of the church, a record of the meetings so far held, a list of the membership of the church, and as he considered quite appropriate to the time, a picture of the late President McKinley together with the story of his sad death. Taking cement upon the trowel Rev. Brooks then said: "It is our pleasure now to seal the contents in this corner stone. In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost we lay this corner stone to the house dedicated to the worship of God."

All then joined in singing, "How Firm a Foundation," after which Rev. Dr. Cryor pronounced the benediction. Following the service many of those present went to the homes of W. H. Bennett and Grant Young near by where the ladies of the Dorcas society served a chicken pie dinner.

The little church which is being built by the people of West Dixon we have previously described. It will be very convenient and well appointed and was designed by Architect M. H. Vail. The building faces Van Buren avenue, the foundation being 40 by 48 feet and at the north end of the 150 foot lot. The remaining 110 feet will be reserved with the prospect of enlarging the church when it seems advisable. The corner stone was placed at the northeast corner of the building just at the right of the entrance. The completion of the church will be watched for with interest.

Bad Farm Fire Narrowly Averted.

Late Sunday afternoon sparks from a passing Northwestern locomotive set fire to the stalks in a corn field on the farm of Mrs. Sophia Dysart, two and a half miles east of Dixon. F. W. Coleman is a tenant on the farm and discovered the dry stalks burning fiercely and the fire moving rapidly toward the house and barns. If it had not been for the assistance of neighbors, who helped him plow furrows across the end of the field, everything would have been destroyed by the flames.

Other farmers in the vicinity are today plowing around their fields to prevent a like or more destructive conflagration.

Fireman Frank Coffey and H. S. Dey from the fire hall and six other members of the Dixon fire department drove out to the scene of the fire taking liquid and dry chemicals with them. With the chemicals they put out the fire which had caught in the large trees and could have given a great deal of aid had the flames reached the buildings. The boys were given a nice lunch in return for their kindness in assisting to put out the fire.

GIVEN A BACK SEAT.

Father Crowley, Deposed Priest, Attends High Mass at Holy Name Cathedral.

USHERS BAR HIS WAY TO THE FRONT.

Excommunicated Pastor Listens, Apparently Unmoved, to the Criticism Directed at Him.

True to his promise that he would attend high mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Name yesterday, J. J. Crowley, the excommunicated priest, appeared there at 10:20 o'clock and for two hours sat in an obscure seat, a witness to the solemn ceremony, which proceeded in the usual manner.

Chancellor Barry, who the Sunday before had declared that no mass would be held if the deposed priest persisted in attending the services, receded from his position by relegating the offender to a rear seat in the big auditorium. In the sermon which followed high mass the Rev. Father Frank O'Brien administered a scathing rebuke to the rebellious priest, which he listened to attentively and apparently unmoved.

NORTH DIXON WINS.

Sterling Unknowns Could Only Score Goose Egg.

The Sterling Unknowns, a football team composed of several Sterling high school boys and a few others came to Dixon Saturday for a hastily arranged game at Athletic Park to take the place of the one between Freeport and North Dixon, which was cancelled. After the game was over the score was judged to be between 30 and 50 for North Dixon and a cipher for the Sterling boys. The North Siders themselves made so many touchdowns that they had a very hazy idea of the score, but it was probably about 37 to 0. The lineup was as follows:

Sterling.		Dixon.
Reisner	C	Sterling
Heaton	RG	Fahrney
Winters	RT	Page
Turnroth	RE	Lord
Woods	LG	Tovelle
Powell	LT	Burnham
Kanally	LE	Price
Ewings	LH	Dutcher
Donichy	FB	Bovey
Gagin	RH	Miller
Kerr	Q	Minnehan

Fred Mead of Dixon and McBride of Sterling acted as referee and umpire. Carl Page was timekeeper and Charlie Franklin and Ed. Oettinger were the linesmen.

Arthur Miller Receives Second Bad Injury.

Arthur F. Miller of this city, who about three months ago fractured his knee cap while running on the camp grounds at Franklin Grove, has been getting along exceptionally well for that kind of an injury and could bend his leg and use it nearly as well as ever and had made arrangements to resume his work at blacksmithing on December 1st, met with another bad accident yesterday. While going down the steps at the Methodist church his heel caught on one of the steps and in trying to save himself from a fall the bone was again broken about half an inch from the other fracture and the ligament was pulled loose from below. He was taken to the hospital and the fracture was united by Dr. Kost. It was a sad misfortune for the young man and this time will probably leave him with a stiff knee.

for Treasurer.

Walter B. Merriman is out as a candidate for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the action of the Republican Convention, which will be called in due time for the purpose of placing a ticket before the people. Mr. Merriman is a citizen here "to the manor born" and indeed, his father was one of the respected early settlers. He has been an earnest and faithful worker in the party, has held offices of trust, the duties of which he has well performed, and he will make an honest and efficient treasurer.

Declared Insane.

George Rolfe, who for twenty-five years has been a resident of Amboy and who until two years ago was a baggage man and conductor on the Illinois Central Railroad, was today by evidence given by Dr. Leavens and Mr. Rolfe's son and daughter in Judge Farrand's court declared insane and will be taken to Elgin for treatment. The mental trouble has been noticed since last July, when he was very ill.

A CITIZEN KNOCKS.
Extra Telegraph Operator Needed in Dixon.
EDITOR TELEGRAPH:
Some time ago I noticed a comment you had on the Western Union Telegraph Co's services in this city. I have had considerable experience with the service of this company at different points and I must say the services in Dixon are the most deplorable and unsatisfactory of any place I know of and I do think that the only way for the business people to get relief is to give some inducement to the other telegraph companies to come in here. If that is done we will find the Western Union service quite different to what it is now.
The above is no reflection on the present operator, the fact is he has too much to do.
The long distant telephone is the only relief we have at present.
A CITIZEN.

The Dixon Woman's Club.
The Woman's Club met Saturday, Nov. 9, in Rosbrook's hall, which is to be the club home for the year. Meeting was called to order by the president and the secretary's report read, a report so perfect in detail that absent members might well imagine themselves present. The treasurer's and committee reports followed and were approved.
Miss Katherine Finley read Notes from the Illinois Women's Federation Club meeting at Decatur. It was a clear and exhaustive synopsis of the literary and business part of the program, in which the best speakers were mentioned and the strongest points emphasized while the suggestions for practical club work were well defined. No greater compliment could be paid his paper than the whispered comment of a young member, "I feel as if I had been there."
Mrs. Sheffield told of the journey, the pleasant acquaintances and the fine hospitality, and transported the ladies into Fairyland as she described the brilliant social functions. She closed with a description of "An Evening with the North American Indian."
Mrs. Clara A. Braiden, district president, was unable to be present and her place was filled by Mrs. Marie L. Green, with a paper on "Need of Home Training for Home Making." This was not a machine paper, but a collection of live thoughts from the brain of a thinking mother and resulted in a lively discussion, one of the most helpful features of the program.
A vote of thanks was tendered the delegates for their able reports and also to Miss Effie Shaw, district vice president, for her courtesy to the Woman's Club delegates.
It was decided to place the traveling library in the reading rooms of the Athenaeum.

Engineers Have Surveyed a Line from Shabbona to Amboy.
A gang of seven or eight surveyors started from Shabbona a few days ago and today reached Amboy. They are in charge of F. B. Nash, assistant engineer of the Burlington road. Whether or not they will go on from Amboy is not known and could not be learned as the entire crew of men refused to talk on the subject. It is thought, however that the plan most likely is to shorten the company's line between Chicago and Rock Island and to run through trains between the two cities. At present traffic between the two cities must be by way of Galesburg or else by way of Sterling and Aurora.
The line surveyed from Shabbona to Amboy passes 6 miles north of Compton, 5 1/2 miles north of West Brooklyn and 1 1/2 miles south of Lee Center. A short time ago lines were surveyed from Buda to Ohio and Deer Grove, if the line surveyed between Shabbona and Amboy and is continued to Deer Grove and then on down through the northern part of Henry county to Rock Island it would make a direct line as could probably be surveyed.

Dies From Skipping Rope.
Miss Maud Burgner, the 14-year old daughter of Morris Burgner, a farmer of Loxa, Ill., died last week of displacement of the heart, due to excessive exercise with a skipping rope. She was an exceptionally healthy child and frequently outjumped her girl friends at school, one after another. After an unusually hard contest she was taken ill, death resulting therefrom.
Fast Run by Burlington Mail.
The Burlington fast mail train broke all former records between Monmouth and Burlington Saturday, making the twenty-seven miles in twenty-five minutes. The run from Monmouth to Kirkwood, eight miles, was made in four minutes. The schedule time from Monmouth to Burlington is forty-three minutes.
—Messdames T. W. Leake and F. H. Mynard were here from Amboy Saturday.

RAILROAD NOTES.
Interesting News of the Railways, Local and General.
Night Operator P. G. Williams of Amboy spent Saturday in this city.
Traveling Passenger Agent G. A. Hines was here Saturday with Ticket Agent Ben Day of the Illinois Central.
Messrs. Scanlon and E. J. Bloodgood, traveling auditors of the C. & N. W., who were in the city checking up the various departments at the Northwestern depot, found everything satisfactory.
A foreman in charge of thirteen men in the city for the Western Union Telegraph Co. They are at work stretching a new copper plated wire between Chicago and Clinton, Ia. It is reported that the Northwestern has secured an option for fifty locomotives for ten years from the American Locomotive company.
The double track from West Side, Chicago, to Denison, has been turned over to the operating department and with the exception of some five or six miles between Maple River and the West Side, the double track is complete to Denison.
The general superintendent of the Northeastern railway of England, Wilson Wordsell, who is visiting this country inspecting great railway systems, has just placed an order with an American locomotive works for twenty passenger engines. Thus far no locomotive of American manufacture has been used on the Northeastern road, but it is Mr. Wordsell's purpose to supplant all of his present power with locomotives manufactured in this country. This will be done as fast as the old power wears out and has to be replaced. The engines, which will be shipped to the Northeastern as soon as they can be completed, will be patterned after the engines now in use in hauling the Pennsylvania limited. The locomotives ordered by Mr. Wordsell will cost in the neighborhood of $320,000 and the weight about 109 tons with loaded tender.

SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.
The Book Agent Will Catch You if You Don't Watch Out.
Rockford people were stirred up last week by the arrest of a well known citizen, Mr. Melster, by a traveling book agent. It seems that Mrs. Keister had been caught by the offer of a cheap book publishing firm, selling on the installment plan. She was to pay 10 cents a week and each week get a novel, and after paying a certain number of weeks was to receive a prize worth $100. Last week a new agent came on the field, stating that his predecessor had exceeded his instructions and that patrons of the house would have to purchase a larger number of novels before the prizes could be given. Mrs. Keister refused to do this and demanded a fulfillment of the company's contract. While the altercation was in progress, Mr. Keister came in, and comprehending the state of the case, swept the watches into his pocket, which he proposed to keep as hostages for the repayment of the money already paid by his wife. Hence the arrest.

The Quaker Witness.

Quakers are notoriously bad witnesses for lawyers "on the other side." The late Josiah Hunt of Bristol, a typical Quaker of half a century ago, was called as a witness in a case tried before the recorder. The opposing counsel was an Irishman, who, although possessed of a full flavored brogue, was very anxious to be thought an Englishman. Failing to obtain much information from the cautious replies of Mr. Hunt, the lawyer became rather angry and thus addressed the witness, "Now, Mr. Hunt, be good enough to attend to me and remember, sir, you are on your oath."

"Excuse me," said Mr. Hunt, "but I am not."
"Your affirmation, then, sir. I believe, Mr. Hunt, you are a Quaker."
The witness, looking straight at the lawyer, replied, "And I believe thou art an Irishman!"
Every one in court, from the judge to the messenger, knowing the lawyer's weakness, was greatly amused at the Quaker's home thrust, and it is hardly necessary to add that the Quaker was asked no more questions.—Chambers' Journal.

FORGOTTEN.

A little year or so ago
She sparkled everywhere,
With shoulders bare and face aglow,
The fairest of the fair.
We read about her every day
As having been at this or that,
At club or tea or ball or play,
Attraction centered where she sat.

A little year or so ago
She swayed a certain set.
Without her functions failed, but, oh,
How quickly we forgot!
The men who flocked around her then
Now datter other girls, and they
That read her name with envy when
She swayed ne'er think of her today.

A preacher said some words, and, lo,
A maiden ceased to be!
The fair one people used to know,
Oh, where, oh, where is she?
There's one who bends with loving gaze
O'er something small and frail and sweet.
I wonder if she mourns the days
When all the world was at her feet?
—Chicago Record-Herald.

MARRIAGE AT THE SCAFFOLD

In the seaport of Calais, which for over 100 years was under the power of the English, there once lived a bachelor, Josse Dullart, who had come there to carry on business. He was a native of Bailleul-en-Flandre, well qualified to secure for the London merchants the wool of which the Flemish weavers make their various materials and to derive an honest profit from each. Naturally, because of his commercial subtlety and because of the pleasant and comfortable life which came to him in consequence, our man became exposed to the jealousies and ill will of the other tradesmen, English for the most part. He did not know it, since the hypocrites allowed nothing to become evident, but, on the contrary, made every endeavor to present an agreeable exterior to him, so as not to compromise in the least the slight advantages which accrued to them through his kindness. Nevertheless they decided to ruin him and to that end contrived a device so black and so wicked that Sir Satan himself in his demoniacal mind could not have imagined a better. In pursuance of the scheme one of them secretly concealed in the house of Josse Dullart a leather bag containing a sum of 100 livres sterling in gold crowns. Having done this, he went to the criminal magistrate with two comrades as witnesses to accuse his colleague of having robbed him.

At that remote period there had not yet appeared under the canopy of heaven any of the impudent sharpers, slugs and swindlers who in the course of time have shamelessly said and written that ownership means theft, and the money earned by some is so much lost by others, with the sole intent that they may put everything into confusion and be able easily to slip into their purses that which is another's.

The world has indeed heard of much folly and seen many iniquities, but not that, and human justice, which had never known of any jesting upon the matter, would have hung their like high and in short order, dealing with them precisely as she would with veritable robbers.

Who was amazed at seeing the policeman of the provostship invade his home, ransack his coffers and chests, produce from them a sack of gold of which he knew nothing and a legal clerk take down disquieting notes of the affair in his illegible scrawl? It was the ill fated Dullart.

The poor fellow strove with them in vain, vowing to God his innocence, but words could not prevail against deeds. Now, he could not explain how the sack, the evidence of his crime, had come into his possession, whence it followed that the innocent man was condemned to the halter as if he had been guilty.

The affair, however, let loose in an uproar all the devils of Calais. Think of it—a great merchant, with a house of his own, convicted of common larceny, like a vulgar rascal!

In the end the populace, while it was not privy to the plot laid by a half dozen arrant rogues, was nevertheless not mistrustful. It rather inclined in favor of the pitiable citizen of Bailleul. This without taking into consideration the peasants on the outskirts of the town, who were French, not having been expelled from their fireside by the conquerors, as had been the poor commoners of the city, and who hated all the English within their borders.

So it may be said that the throng which swarmed about the streets and crossways on the day when Dullart was to be taken to the gibbet entertained more compassion for him than derision, above all, if you take into account the fact that he was young, good in every respect and of a prepossessing appearance.

From the jail to the gallows Josse walked with bowed head by the side of a priest, who enjoined him to rejoice that he was about to pass into a better world. He did not glance at a single person, so great was the shame he felt on account of the filthy mischief of which he was accused. It was only when he had ascended the first rounds of the fatal ladder, having the cord about his neck, that below the soldiers grouped around the base of the gibbet, he perceived the crowd and recognized among them a fair young woman for whom in happier days he had conceived a tender and violent passion.

At the sight of her he experienced a yet more poignant sorrow at leaving so soon and so painfully an existence from which he had expected to derive such delicate felicities. And then, impelled by a sudden reminiscence and by a natural instinct for preservation, he began to cry out with all his might:

"Loyse, Loyse, by God the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, I adjure you! Save my life, claim me in marriage!"

The girl stood there trembling with emotion among her companions. Hearing herself thus addressed by name by the prisoner, she became convulsed with agitation; almost unconsciously, half moved by pity, half incited by her neighbors, she approached the gibbet without the police daring to prevent her.

"Oh, Loyse," repeated the prisoner ardently, "I am innocent. I swear it by my eternal salvation! Demand me in marriage, and you will have saved my life!"

She did not know one word to say, she had so lost her senses, but she extended her hand, which the poor devil seized with avidity. Seeing this, the people in all direction began to roar:

"A marriage, a marriage! She has claimed him! Cut the cord, hangman; cut it, cut it!"

The executioner did not cut the rope, but he let it drop, undecided as to what was most expedient for him to do, and as the crowd continued to bellow and even became threatening the officer of the provostship, judging it an opportune time for a delay, led the condemned man back into his cell in order to submit his peculiar case to the law. And the people dispersed content, believing the man from that moment to be saved.

But the stealthy cats did not so easily let go one whom they held in their claws. They had a man to be hanged, a pretty little man, a man over whose hanging they licked their lips, and here how people pretended that he was taken out of their grasp! And why, I ask you? Under the most foolish of pretenses, in the name of some ridiculous custom, some illegal pretense which granted grace, full free and immediate, to any condemned man whom a woman declared in public to desire in lawful wedlock. Who ever had heard of an equal subterfuge?

But, ah, traditional or written, the law is the law, and the case in question had to be elucidated! Unwillingly rather than willingly they opened an inquest upon the matter in hand to learn whether or not so unreasonable a usage had ever at any period had power by law, which inquest finally established that no similar case had been presented since the time of the conquest in Calais, but that previous to that date there had been many such cases, more particularly in Flanders and in Artois than in Picardy.

In consideration of these indecisive conclusions the enemies of Dullart urged the magistrates to override the law, and the magistrates did not demur. It was the governor who placed an obstacle before them in view of public opinion, which had become greatly agitated over a controversy which had at stake the life of a man made in the image of God! Suddenly that dignitary called to mind the example of prudence offered of yore to the world by that worthy magistrate Pontius Pilate in order that he might avoid thrusting his own finger between the tree and its bark. In place of announcing his fears in public he appealed to his master, King Edward, the fourth of that name, to decide the matter according to his own good pleasure.

The monarch judiciously estimated that one man more or less upon the gallows was of small value in enhancing his glory and bespoke clemency for the case under consideration. He ordained then that the old usages should be conformed with and that full pardon be awarded the condemned man, under the condition, be it well understood, that the solicitor of his love hold him duly to his engagement.

So it came to pass that the good Josse had the rare and marvelous fortune to espouse a gentle and well favored maiden after the approved fashion instead of the cold and grinning death and to be indebted to his wife for that which ordinarily men owe to their mothers only—that is to say, his life.

A similar occurrence took place a short time afterward unexpectedly at the city of Rouen. As a certain thief, a native of Hautvilliers, was conducted to his fate, a loud old woman stepped out of the crowd below and declared that she desired him in marriage. The prisoner, astonished, considered a moment; then, remarking that the aforesaid person was a homely hag, shook his head and pursued his way to the gallows, observing to the executioner:

"The wench, I don't want her!"
And in a moment he was wedded to the gallows.—Chicago Tribune.

Fled to the Wolves.

For sheer melodrama the English jewel robber Houghton's arrest would be hard to beat. After his last big diamond theft he was traced to West Bromwich and thence led the detectives a dance over the country. At last when the pursuers were hard on his heels he dashed into a traveling menagerie which was exhibiting just outside Birmingham. There he found one of the attendants fastening up a van cage containing a pair of large gray wolves. He flung the man on one side and opened the cage, shutting himself in with the beasts and daring any one to fetch him out. The strange thing was that the wolves, which the proprietor had always considered the most dangerous animals in the show, took no notice whatever of the fugitive, but showed great ill temper toward the keeper and a constable, who had great difficulty in dragging Houghton out.

A Question of Location.

"I thought, count, that you were a dead shot?"

A Last Joke.

John D. Long, in the Massachusetts campaign of 1878, was making his first run for governor against General Butler, who had captured the Democratic nomination, and Judge Josiah G. Abbott, who was the candidate of the old line Democrats.

The late Judge Thompson was making a speech for Abbott before a big Democratic audience and, after praising the candidate as a jurist and a statesman, asked sarcastically, "And now, who is this John L-L-Long?" No one answering, he proceeded: "They say he has made a translation of Homer's 'Iliad'! What g-g-good is that to us? All Democrats read Homer in the original!"

At this the person to whom the judge was telling the story laughed, but the judge continued: "Th-th-that's not the real joke at all! The real joke is that not a m-m-m-in in the audience so much as smiled!"

Where She Differed From Paul.

A Scotch clergyman called upon a parishioner not long since, an old woman who was not blessed with many virtues, but who possessed a very varied assortment of vices. He took the latter as a text for a sermon and spoke to her at considerable length upon the subject, concluding with some extracts from one of St. Paul's epistles which he felt to be appropos.

She didn't speak for several minutes after he had finished, and he thought that he had made an impression upon her at last. He was mistaken, however, for she suddenly turned round with the remark: "Humph! That's just where Paul and I have differed these ten years."

To make good tea and coffee the water should be taken at the first bubble. Remember continued boiling causes the water to part with its gases and become flat. This is the cause of much bad tea and coffee.—Ladies' Home Journal.

PURELY POLITICAL

Gossip of Yates--Lorimer Trouble With Mixture of Local Political Nonsense.

What purports to be a Springfield correspondence of the Chicago Tribune gives a long hashing up of what the writer calls state politics, which, is doubtless purely imaginary; but still interesting reading for this section of the state, as our Dixon citizens are mentioned in a most (to them) startling manner. They will be astonished to see in print plans political that they never dreamed of in politics. After exposing political fence building throughout the state the correspondent dishes up this "neck of woods" as follows:

"Hitt's District Is Important."

The new Hitt Congressional district, if it may be so termed, is composed of Jo Daviess, Stevenson, Carroll, Ogle, Whiteside and Lee. There is a new deal in politics up that way. Jo Daviess county is an important factor in the district, and Senator John McKenzie is the recognized leader up there. There are two Republican elements in Whiteside county, one headed by Charles Bent of Morrison, and the other by Thomas Diller of Sterling. Both of these factions, if they may be so termed, are for Cullom first, last, and all the time. They hate Lorimer and the state administration crowd, and will get ready to make a battle, as will appear later on.

Mrs. Fannie Worthington lives in Sterling and she has done more for the Republican party of Illinois than any woman. She is a potential factor in Republican politics. She thought she was going to be appointed Assistant Pure Food Commissioner by Governor Yates. She had reason to believe this was going to be done, but after a wait of ten months she came to Springfield last Sunday and was told she could not have the job. Governor Yates evidently argues like this:

"Sayliss comes from Whiteside and I want to beat him, so why should I give a place to Fannie Worthington who lives in Whiteside, when it won't do me any good?"

So Bent and Diller and Worthington will look after Whiteside, and they will attend to it properly, too.

District Attorney Bethea, Assemblyman Charles Hughes, and Judge Farland are the leading spirits in the Republican politics of Lee county. Bethea and United States Marshal Ames are with Mason for the United States Senate, but they are nondeliverable quantities when it comes to a fight against Yates and Lorimer. That is to say, they cannot be put any place where they must coalesce with Yates and Lorimer to achieve a result.

In Carroll county twenty-five State appointments have been distributed by Homer Aspinwall and Scott Cowen. Judge Eton, will make a fight there against the State administration.

After some talk about what might happen if Whiteside, Lee and Jo Daviess counties should join in congressional convention the writer goes on to suggest:

"A big majority of the Republicans above referred to refuse to be wheedled or cajoled by Lorimer of Yates. A great many Republicans in the other counties in the district, looking toward party welfare more than individual success, are inclined to join with Bethea, McKenzie, Diller, Bent, Farland and Worthington. Some of the people were so incensed that they made talk which they will probably regret when their fears of the Lorimer-Yates combination are allayed. They even went so far as to say the chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Affairs was nothing to the Republicans of the Thirteenth District in comparison with the dread they had of the extension of Lorimer-Yates methods in the Republican party of Illinois.

But in the meantime the hired scouts and the agents of the literary bureau are tearing through Illinois at a great rate.

Springfield is the storm center of the whole business. Here they come to report of their doings and the happening in their respective territories. Innovations are noted, too, in the method of conducting of Illinois politics. Many Republicans who come here, no matter whether they be in accord with the administration or not, are subjected to a new and unheard of espionage. Their steps are dogged and every movement they make is watched with a view of reporting to somebody."

—A wolf has been seen by the residents of North Rockford running through that part of the city. It is supposed the animal followed the river down until it reached the city.

STANDARD OF RIGHTEOUSNESS.

Subject of Sermon by Rev. Finis Idleman, Who Enters Upon Third Year of Pastorate.

Last Sunday marked the close of two years of pastoral work by the Rev. Finis Idleman as pastor of the Christian church in this city. During this time he has accomplished much good in a spiritual way as well as in other directions. The debt of $250, which has been hanging over the church has been paid the past year. Over one hundred members have been added to the church within the twelve months just ended. The officers of the church who were recently elected are: President, Dr. C. C. Kost; treasurer, D. M. Fahrney; clerk, T. M. Brenner; chairman of collectors, O. D. Price.

Rev. Idleman last evening delivered a sermon at the church on the subject of "Standards of Righteousness," taking his text from Matt. 5:20: "Except your righteousness exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no case enter the kingdom of heaven." This presents the world's burning question: "How good must we be to go to heaven?" We live and perform our relative duties and die. Some have been careless, some indifferent, some highly spiritual. In our final disposal of our bodies we save them all without distinction. They eventually enter into their rest. Without doubt in so doing we do great injury to the spirit of the gospel and the mind of Christ. Indeed, perhaps it is a good thing that we do not know exactly how good man must be to go to heaven, or few of us would be fit to go, for in the midst of physical activity there is very apt to be and is a tendency toward spiritual laziness. The spirit of the gospel is rather toward an endless, life-long struggle. The struggle and not the achievement is the criterion of Jesus' judgment. This text indicates that the gospel does not share the age spirit of compromise. A man enters the social world and finds that men pretend to be so much that when society marks them down to their seeming worth this mark is still above what it ought to be. A man enters a suit for damage in the courts for such an amount that it may be compromised and he will yet receive more than the actual damage. The merchant marks his goods so high that although he compromises on the price mark he makes a good profit. When a man has thus passed through the social and civic worlds and finds everywhere this spirit of compromise, he thinks also to find it in the church. With Jesus there was no compromise. He said plainly: "He that is not for me is against me; he that goeth not with me scattereth abroad." To the man who would follow him, but first wished to bury his father, he said: "Let the dead bury the dead. Come thou and follow me."

Grain Moved In Streams.

Nowhere in North America will you come on a more thrilling sight scene than the fresh water cargo tank unloading at Buffalo, says Rollin Lynde Hartt in The Atlantic. Here she lies beneath the towering grain elevator, which thrusts a long pumping pipe (called the "leg") down through her hatchway. Mount the gangplank, dodging the spinning ropes that make your head reel, stumble about on the dark deck, look down, down, down through the open hatch, and, zounds, what a sight! The hold glows with electricity. It is misty with blown dust. It roars with mechanical activity.

An enormous steel "shovel," big as the inside of a house and manipulated by countless flying ropes, charges back and forth through the whole length of the ship, pitching the yellow grain before it and heaping it up where the leg can get hold of it to whisk it into the bin that is somewhere up in the sky. Beneath, in the hold, an army of blue clad men with wooden "scoops" barely dodge the deadly shovel as they swing the grain into its path.

Observations by Mildred.

Scene: Tricar. Dramatis persona: Four-year-old girl, mother and several passengers.

Child (in high, shrill treble)—Mamma, did you get papa's birthday present?

"Yes, dearest."

"What did you get, mamma?"

"Cigars, lovey."

"The cheap ones that Aunt Millie told you about?"

Silence from mamma, but a heightened flush on her face that was not entirely the reflection from "dearest lovey's" red velvet hat.

"Mamma, that man over there has on a dreadfully dirty necktie. You told papa the other day that no gentleman would wear a soiled necktie."

Man glares and pulls his coat about his neck.

"Mildred, stop talking."

Mildred was silent for a little while.

"Mamma, that lady over there forgot to polish her shoes this morning."

London Spare Moments.

All Cheese Is Densely Populated.

Professor Adametz, who devoted considerable time to the study of the fragrant subject, said that the population of an ordinary cheese when a few weeks old is greater than the number of persons upon the earth.

Professor Adametz made some interesting researches dealing with the minute organisms found in cheese. From a microscopic examination of a soft variety of Gruyere cheese he obtained the following statistics: In fifteen grains of cheese, when perfectly fresh, from 90,000 to 140,000 microbes were found, and when the cheese was seventy days old the population had increased to 800,000 in each fifteen grains. An examination of a denser cheese at twenty-five days old proved it to contain 1,200,000 in each gram (about fifteen grains) and when forty-five days old 2,000,000 in the same small particle.

Spiders Are Industrious.

No small insect ever escapes from the web of a spider, a fact which is not to be wondered at when it is considered that an ordinary sized snare may contain as many as 120,000 viscid globules. The spinner is constantly engaged in repairing injuries to the web inflicted by wind, stray leaves or captured insects. Once a day the whole snare is subjected to rigorous examination, and any broken or damaged threads are adjusted.—Cornhill Magazine.

Thunder.

Winter thunder is considered throughout Europe to be of very ill omen, but April thunder is considered to be very beneficial. In Devonshire and other older counties of England there is a saying that "when it thunders in April you must clean up the barns"—in readiness, that is, for a plentiful crop of apples.

The French consider April thunder to be indicative of a good yield from their vineyards and cornfields.

Chance For Vengeance.

Simon (angrily)—I have sent the editor of The Hightone Magazine forty-two of my poems, and he has returned every one of them.

Friend—Don't send him any more. He might get mad.

"Suppose he should. What could he do?"

"He might publish one of them under your real name."—New York Weekly.

Abandoned Cisterns.

An abandoned cistern is often a dangerous thing and should be filled, as stagnant water which may remain in it is a common source of disease. If this cannot be done at once, it is a good plan to throw in proper disinfectants and gradually fill it up with sifted coal ashes.

Lesson In Journalism.

Professor of Journalism—Mr. Spinks, what would you do if a man fell down in front of the office and stubbed his toe?

Mr. Spinks—I should think the circumstances too trivial to be noted.

Professor—Mr. Spinks, there you would be wrong. In old times, say ten years ago, your course would have been eminently proper, but the larger journalism of today demands larger possibilities of the laws of gravitation; next, a column on the different methods of laying sidewalks, with a glance at the brick industry; then half a column of the history of that particular street; and, finally, a reference to the enterprise of your own paper, with quotations from applauding readers. And, by the way, Mr. Spinks, you find out the man's name. Tomorrow the class will present a 2,200 word account of a dog-fight in the street, including a 2,000 word consideration of the dog in human sociology from the earliest times.—Boston Transcript.

The "Nice Boy's" Chance.

Nowhere on the surface of the globe can a bachelor man, from twenty to thirty, have such a good time as in this London of today, says an English magazine. If he but have good manners (and sometimes not even that) and a tolerably engaging appearance, our youngster may haunt my lady's boudoir and shoot my lord's coverts at his own good pleasure. At balls and parties he is literally fought for. If he has aspirations toward a career, the well connected young man in a land which is governed by its upper classes, has every prospect of success, not the least among his chances being that all pervading petticoat influence of which the modern boy knows so well how to avail himself.

Tomorrow Night.

Nettie DeCoursey, the smallest acting soubrette on the American stage, will be seen as "Jennie" in "Lost in New York", at the Dixon Opera House tomorrow evening.

Miss DeCoursey acquired fame through her clever performances as leading soubrette with several of the Hoyt farces, and she is well remembered as the "Boy" in Matthews and Bulger's "At Gay Coney Island." The late Chas. Hoyt always spoke of her as "the little bit of a woman with a great big voice." Fred E. Wright, manager for Mr. Hoyt addressed her as "the lady with a chip on her shoulder", for it is universally known that this little lady will not countenance imposition from manager, actor or stage hand. Yet she is popular with those with whom her business compels her to associate.

RECOMMEND IT TO TRAINEES

F. H. Hausen, Lima, O., Engineer L. E. & W. R. R., writes: "I have been troubled a great deal with backache. I was induced to try FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE, and one bottle entirely relieved me. I gladly recommend it to anyone, especially my friends among the train men, who are usually similarly afflicted."

Many people are suffering fearfully from indigestion or dyspepsia, when one single bottle of HERBINE would bring about a prompt and permanent cure. A few doses will do more for a weak stomach than a prolonged course of any other medicine. Price 15 cents, E. M. Bunnell Co.

Seymour Webb, Moira, N. Y., writes "I had been troubled with my kidneys for twenty-five years and had tried several physicians but received no relief until I bought a bottle of FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE. After using two bottles I was absolutely cured. I earnestly recommend Foley's Kidney cure." Take only FOLEY'S, Rowland Bros.

For all fresh cuts or wounds, either on the human subject or on animals, BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT is excellent: while for corn-busters' sprained wrists, barbed-wire cuts and sores on working horses, it cannot be too highly commended. Price 25 and 50 cents. E. M. Bunnell Co.

To remove a troublesome corn or bunion: First soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it, then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily: rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn for a few days, to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, PAIN BALM is unequalled. For sale by Rowland Bros.

There is probably no disease more distressing and annoying than piles. TABLER'S BUCKEYE OINTMENT is a daily cure for years standing of itching and bleeding piles. The cure begins on the first application and a little perseverance makes the cure complete. Price 50 cents in bottles. Tubes, 75 cents. E. M. Bunnell Co.

WILL TEST THE LAW

Constitutionality of the State Tax Statute to Go to the Supreme Court.

POINT THAT IS IN CONTROVERSY.

Young Girl Falls Dead at a Dance—Coal Mine Shaft on Fire—State Miscellany.

Springfield, Ills., Nov. 11.—At the instigation of the attorney general the county attorney of Cook county will appeal to the supreme court at the December term for an opinion as to the constitutionality of the two revenue laws passed by the legislature last winter. The court will be called upon to decide whether or not it is legal for state taxes to be extended upon the assessment fixed by the state board of equalization, and local taxes to be extended upon the assessment fixed by the county board of review.

Attorney General Declines to Act.

The Cook county attorney has asked Attorney General Hamilton for an opinion in the matter, but the attorney general has declined to pass upon the validity of the law. He has decided that, in the absence of an opinion by the supreme court declaring the law unconstitutional, taxes should be extended in the manner named. He holds that section 1 of the 5 per cent. limitation law does not conflict with this law, but merely provides that the assessment made by the board of equalization must be used as a basis to decide whether the amount of the levy for local purposes is above the 5 per cent. limit.

M. Hunter, a professional gambler. The men had quarreled Friday night and Saturday morning were gambling. Hunter hunted Holland up to demand $20. No one saw the shooting, but several persons heard the shot and saw Hunter stand over Holland's body with a smoking revolver in his hand.

He confessed the deed and said he would give himself up, but later hid in a livery stable, where he was arrested without resistance. Hunter is a cousin of the notorious bandit Polkwell. As Holland lay dying Hunter lighted a cigarette. Hunter claims that Holland started for him and reached for a revolver, but the weapon which was found lying under Holland's body was not loaded.

When the priest appeared at the central entrance to the cathedral he had gathered there a number of ushers, who quickly placed two tables across the entrance, barring his way. He demanded admittance and he was directed to a side entrance, and there admitted. When he started up the aisle, however, his way was blocked by another company of ushers, who declined to permit him to proceed, and he was forced to accept a pew the fourth from the rear. There he sat undisturbed through the service.

He is determined that there shall be no more surprises, and commanding officers will be held responsible. General Smith also directs that all rice and hemp captured must be destroyed.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:
Baltimore, Md., March 20, 1901.
Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full description of my case. The head at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost the hearing in the ear entirely.
For several years I could not hear, for three months, without any success, consult a number of my friends, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
Then, one day, I saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours, F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

TRAPPED THE SHERIFF

Two Escaped Convicts Turn the Tables on a Couple of Sleuths.

REFUGED IN A FARMER'S HOUSE

They Not Only Get Away, but Get Away Armed to the Teeth with Stolen Guns.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 11.—Sheriff Cook, of this county, and Deputy Sheriff Williams were captured by two escaped convicts from the Fort Leavenworth military prison yesterday afternoon at Paulina, five miles south of Topeka, and held prisoners in the farm house of a man named Wooster for several hours. The fugitive prisoners finally escaped through a line of police sent from Topeka to reinforce the sheriff, and are now at large. Both were slightly wounded. Wooster was badly wounded by one of the convicts when he tried to fire on them. Mrs. Wooster and Sheriff Cook were utilized by the convicts as a shield in making their escape. A posse is in pursuit.

Fugitives Located by Boys.
At 2:30 p. m. yesterday some farmer boys near Paulina learned that convicts were in the neighborhood. Hastily forming a posse armed with target rifles, pistols and clubs, they gave chase. Neither of the convicts was armed, and they were unable to make a stand. Later Sheriff Cook and Deputy Williams arrived. Coming upon the convicts both of the officers fired, wounding the men, but not disabling them. The convicts then fled through a small opening in the timber and ran into the house of Farmer Wooster. Sheriff Cook telephoned to Topeka for assistance and then took up the chase.

Capture of the Sheriff and His Deputy.
Thinking the convicts had run around the house Cook darted through the open door, intending to surprise them at the rear door. But instead of this the convicts had gone into the house, and the officer almost fell into their arms. Sheriff Cook was ordered to give up his gun, which he did. Deputy Williams by this time had reached the house, and entered without knowing what had happened inside, and he, too, was made captive by the convicts.

FARMER WOOSTER KNOCKED OUT.

He Tried to Assist the Sheriff and Is Now in the Hospital.

In the meantime Chief Stahl, of Topeka, with eight officers, was on his way. The reinforcement arrived at the Wooster house about an hour after the officers had been imprisoned. Chief Stahl immediately began negotiations with the convicts to give up their prisoners and to surrender themselves, but the convicts only laughed. Farmer Wooster then managed to get a gun and was about to make an attack on the convicts when one of them laid him low with a blow from the butt of a revolver taken from one of their captives. The convict broke Wooster's right hand and cut an ugly gash in his head. One of the convicts told Sheriff Cook that he would be killed if he made the slightest move looking toward their capture.

In the meantime the police officers on the outside had surrounded the building, but were afraid to make a move for fear that Cook and Williams would suffer. Mrs. Wooster had fainted during the excitement. She finally revived and at 7 p. m. the convicts placed the woman and Sheriff Cook in front of them as shields and made for the door. The sheriff was informed that if the police made any attempt to recapture them they would instantly kill the farmer, his wife and himself and deputy. Then the party started for the open.

As they left the house the frightened officers left the house. The frightened farmer, his wife and the submissive sheriff before them, the convicts passed between a cordon of police, who could have easily captured them, and started for the railroad track. The sheriff had in turn exacted a promise from the convicts that they would not molest the convicts, and they did not.

After covering a considerable distance down the track the convicts suddenly disappeared through a hedge. Bidding the officers a mocking farewell. One of the police sergeants later said he could have easily touched the leading convict with his hand as he passed. The convicts had secured a good start before the officers had recovered from their surprise. Then some of the policemen wanted to pursue, but Sheriff Cook would not permit it, as he had promised the convicts immunity from arrest. The convicts while in the farm house armed themselves well with the weapons found there.

Switchmen Antagonized by the Conductors' and Trainmen's Orders.

G. Lee, first vice grand master of the trainmen's organization, voted unanimously to stand by the railroad company in the strike declared by the Switchmen's Union of North America.

A plan was adopted for recommendation to the company as to the manner in which vacancies occurring by reason of the strike shall be filled. This action practically ends the strike, so far as the railroad company is concerned, but a fight may ensue in other portions of the country between switchmen and trainmen, and where the switchmen's organization is strong, labor leaders say, they may retaliate by injuring the trainmen.

LOOKS LIKE A FRAUD

Corpse Said Not To Be That of the Man Whom It Is Said To Be.

MYSTERY ABOUT N. C. RATHBUN.

Supposed to Have Died at Jeffersonville, Ind.—Had Recently Insured His Life.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 11.—That the corpse sent here from Jeffersonville, Ind., as that of Newell C. Rathbun, of this city, United States recruiting officer here, who was reported to have died in a Jeffersonville hotel a few days ago, is not the body of Rathbun was the claim made here yesterday by Sam M. Powell, state manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The body was to have been buried in Oakland cemetery yesterday afternoon. In his statement the insurance official is supported by Dr. C. Jennings, the company's examining physician; B. P. Sisk, who placed one-half of the life insurance on Rathbun, and by Mrs. J. C. Watkins, of the Grand Central hotel, with whom Rathbun boarded up to the time of his marriage a short time since, and by others.

He Did an Unusual Thing.

Powell requested the undertaker to postpone the funeral until this afternoon, and yesterday afternoon placed information of his alleged discovery in possession of Detective Chichester, of Sheriff Schader's corps of deputies. Powell made the following statement: "This Rathbun case is so very unusual from my first connection with it that I shall be surprised at nothing that may develop in regard to it." In the first place Newell Rathbun voluntarily called at my office and asked for $2,000 ordinary life insurance. This, while it sometimes occurs, is unusual; but he struck me as a fine risk, and my questions developed that he was the United States army recruiting officer of this city and was soon to be married.

Not the Man to Drop Off That Way.

"I had him examined by the company's physician, Dr. C. Jennings, and he passed all right. I regarded him as an excellent risk. A few days later he called again at my office, but I was sick, and my office man, B. P. Sisk, wrote him $2,000 additional. Therefore, when I read in the press the notice of his sudden death at Jeffersonville, Ind., I was more than astonished. He was too healthy, according to my mind, to drop off in that way, and I thought it might be a case of suicide, and determined to have an autopsy. This morning, in company with Dr. Jennings, I went to 1119 West Third street, where the remains were, to make the request of his wife and have the autopsy over before the hour of the funeral."

Powell said that several persons who knew Rathbun well were present, and when the remains were exposed to view it was the general opinion that the body was not that of Rathbun.

AT THE JEFFERSONVILLE END.

Supposed Rathbun Was Helplessly Intoxicated When He Went to the Hotel.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 11.—Two men who gave the names of William Ten Eyke, of Watertown, N. Y., and Newell C. Rathbun, registered at the Falls City hotel here last Wednesday. On Thursday the man who registered as Rathbun was found dead in his bed. The coroner says the post mortem examination developed enough laudanum in the dead man's stomach to have killed two men. The verdict of the coroner's jury will be that death was caused by morphine poisoning.

The man who registered as William Ten Eyke had left the hotel when the dead body of the other man was found. A letter was received Saturday by Deputy Coroner Coats from Ten Eyke. He wrote on plain paper, and failed to give his address in Louisville, from which city the letter is supposed to have been written. Ten Eyke began by saying he had read in the paper that Deputy Coroner Coats wanted to see him. Then he states that he met Rathbun in Little Rock and was befriended by him. Meeting him in Louisville, and not knowing that Rathbun was in distress, he took him to Jeffersonville, gave him a coat and vest, paid his hotel bill, and Wednesday night accompanied him to Louisville, and the two "had a time."

The supposed Rathbun was helplessly intoxicated, it is said, when he returned to the hotel Wednesday night. Deputy Coroner Coats wants to find Ten Eyke, but has been unable to do so. The man who registered as Rathbun was very shabbily dressed. Neither of the men was known to any one at the hotel.

The jury was out all night, and yesterday brought in a verdict of guilty in the first degree. The convicted man is charged with burning the home of an aged couple named Klokow last November, while the old people were asleep.

Boston, Nov. 11.—An exceptionally large number of Middlesex club members attended the dinner of the club at Young's hotel Saturday, where the principal speaker was Senator Lodge. He urged the building of a great navy and the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine.

NO DULL CHAPTERS TO SKIP IN THIS STORY

The Stranger and the Princess

By Seward W. Hopkins

abounds in dramatic situations. One of them is shown in this picture.

"Advance toward me an inch and I will kill you too!" said Buckford.

Buckford, an American, is the Stranger in the story and the hero.

We have secured this thrilling story for our columns and will begin its publication in a few days.

The Stranger and the Princess are finally thrown together. The princess in the disguise of a nurse ministers to the brave American who was severely wounded in his attempt to warn her brother of the plot against him.

This illustration shows the identity of the Princess revealed to the Stranger.

"YES," SAID THE FARMER'S WIFE, "THIS IS PRINCESS MARIE."

You may read the story in our columns. "The Stranger and the Princess" will be our next serial.

A Peculiar Word.

The word "habit" is one of the most peculiar in our language. If you take off the first letter, you still have "a bit." If you remove the second, the word "bit" is still on hand. Decapitate that by removing the "b" and it is still a word. Take off the "i," and you find the old "habit" not "t" totally destroyed.

EASILY DECIDED.

This Question Should be Answered Easily by North Dixon People.

Which is wiser, to have confidence in the opinions of your fellow citizens, or depend on statements made by utter strangers? Read this:

Mr. G. W. Thompson, of 521 Jefferson Ave., North Dixon, says:—"There was not the slightest doubt in my mind but that I suffered from some imperfect working of the kidneys. What to do to check the cause was a mystery. Happening to read an advertisement about Doan's Kidney Pills, I reasoned that if they performed half what they promised they might give some relief, so I went to Leake Bros. Drug Store for a box. I am convinced from the results obtained that if every sufferer from kidney complaint or backache could be induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills, the treatment would prove of inestimable value."

Brain-Food Nonsense.

Another ridiculous food fad has been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscles, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutriment is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aids digestion, stimulates the liver to healthy action, purifies the blood, and makes you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. Green's reliable remedies at E. M. Bunnell Co.
